

Another

Are you willing to bear another scar,
because you could not take a joke?
Are you going to take another punch,
because you think it makes you strong?
Are you willing to let go of another friend,
because they would not treat you fair?
Are you to take a different love,
because the first few left you here?
Are you going to take another step,
because the previous left you behind?
Are you going to push another breath,
because the you are losing your power to fail?
Are you going to continue with your ill informed
motives,
until satan brings another life to it's end?

By: Natalie A. Thornhill

dedicated to Arthur Lloyd Wiggs.