

Drunk Driver

Never again will you grasp the wheel.
The last time you were there you lost the deal.
Went over board on a bet you could not win.
Crazed on something like Vodka or Gin.

Never again will he take up a ball.
You killed that kid, his life still so small.
Lost his life in the bet that you took.
Stole his breath, now you are a crook.

Never again will she see her true love.
You murdered this wife with a carload of shove.
Took her life with the bet you could not hold back.
Now she will begin her eternal sleep in black.

Never again will you grasp the wheel.
For the last time you did, you stole a great deal.
Went overboard on a bet you could not refuse.
Crazed an alcohol, you were not the only one to lose.

By: Natalie A. Thornhill

Dedicated to MADD, you're struggle will not be in vain.