

Who

Who do children need to blame?
Who is the person, what is their name?
Suicide, rape, and murder abound;
here before they were around.
They had no choice on where to live.
I guess they were expected to give.
More than they have, more than we lend;
they depend on us who do not depend.
Children with hope get only crushed dreams.
Children with plans get caught up in schemes.
This world is not the choice I would make.
How this world is such a mistake.
Who should children blame for all this?
Who is the person, is this his bliss?

By: Natalie A. Thornhill

Dedicated to millennium children.