

Will You Remember

Will you remember me if I go away,
if God calls my name and I cannot stay?

The world may take my life sometime,
without reason or without rhyme.

Will you remember me if I decide to leave?
If God calls my name and pulls on my sleeve?

My life could end at any time,
without reason or without rhyme.

Will you remember me if I need to go?
If God calls on me to stop taking it slow?

The world could take my life at any time,
without reason or without rhyme.

Will you remember me if I take a vacation?
A permanent leave to God's perfect nation?

Heaven may open to me at any time,
without reason or without rhyme.

Will you remember me if I say goodbye?
If I grab God's essence and take to flight?

No specific or random amount of time,
can plan death with reason or rhyme.

By: Natalie A. Thornhill

Dedicated to Aunt Jackie and Uncle Chet.

